

Next Station: China

-----the trade express between Europe and Orient

The entrance to China may indeed be deemed an epoch in a man's life, for he may look big on his return and exclaim with an air, 'I have been to China' and may, besides, talk of 'Chin-chin' and 'Chow-chow', and 'First-Chop Mandarins' and 'Jospigeon', and other semi-Chinese barbarism, which will make a party of elderly and ignorant women open their eyes and smack their lips over the tea which comes from the Celestial Empire.

Exhibition Framework

- part I---porcelain trade in Canton (south wall)
- part ---voyage between China and Europe (east wall)
- part ---porcelain in Europe (north wall)

清嘉慶
青花云
紋螭耳
瓶

objects

bowl showing the foreign trading stations (the BM)

'Grisaille'-and-gold painted punchbowl showing Western trading stations along the Canton waterfront. Franks.745.+

background

England

● objects

'rose' soup plate with an English coat of arms,(the BM)

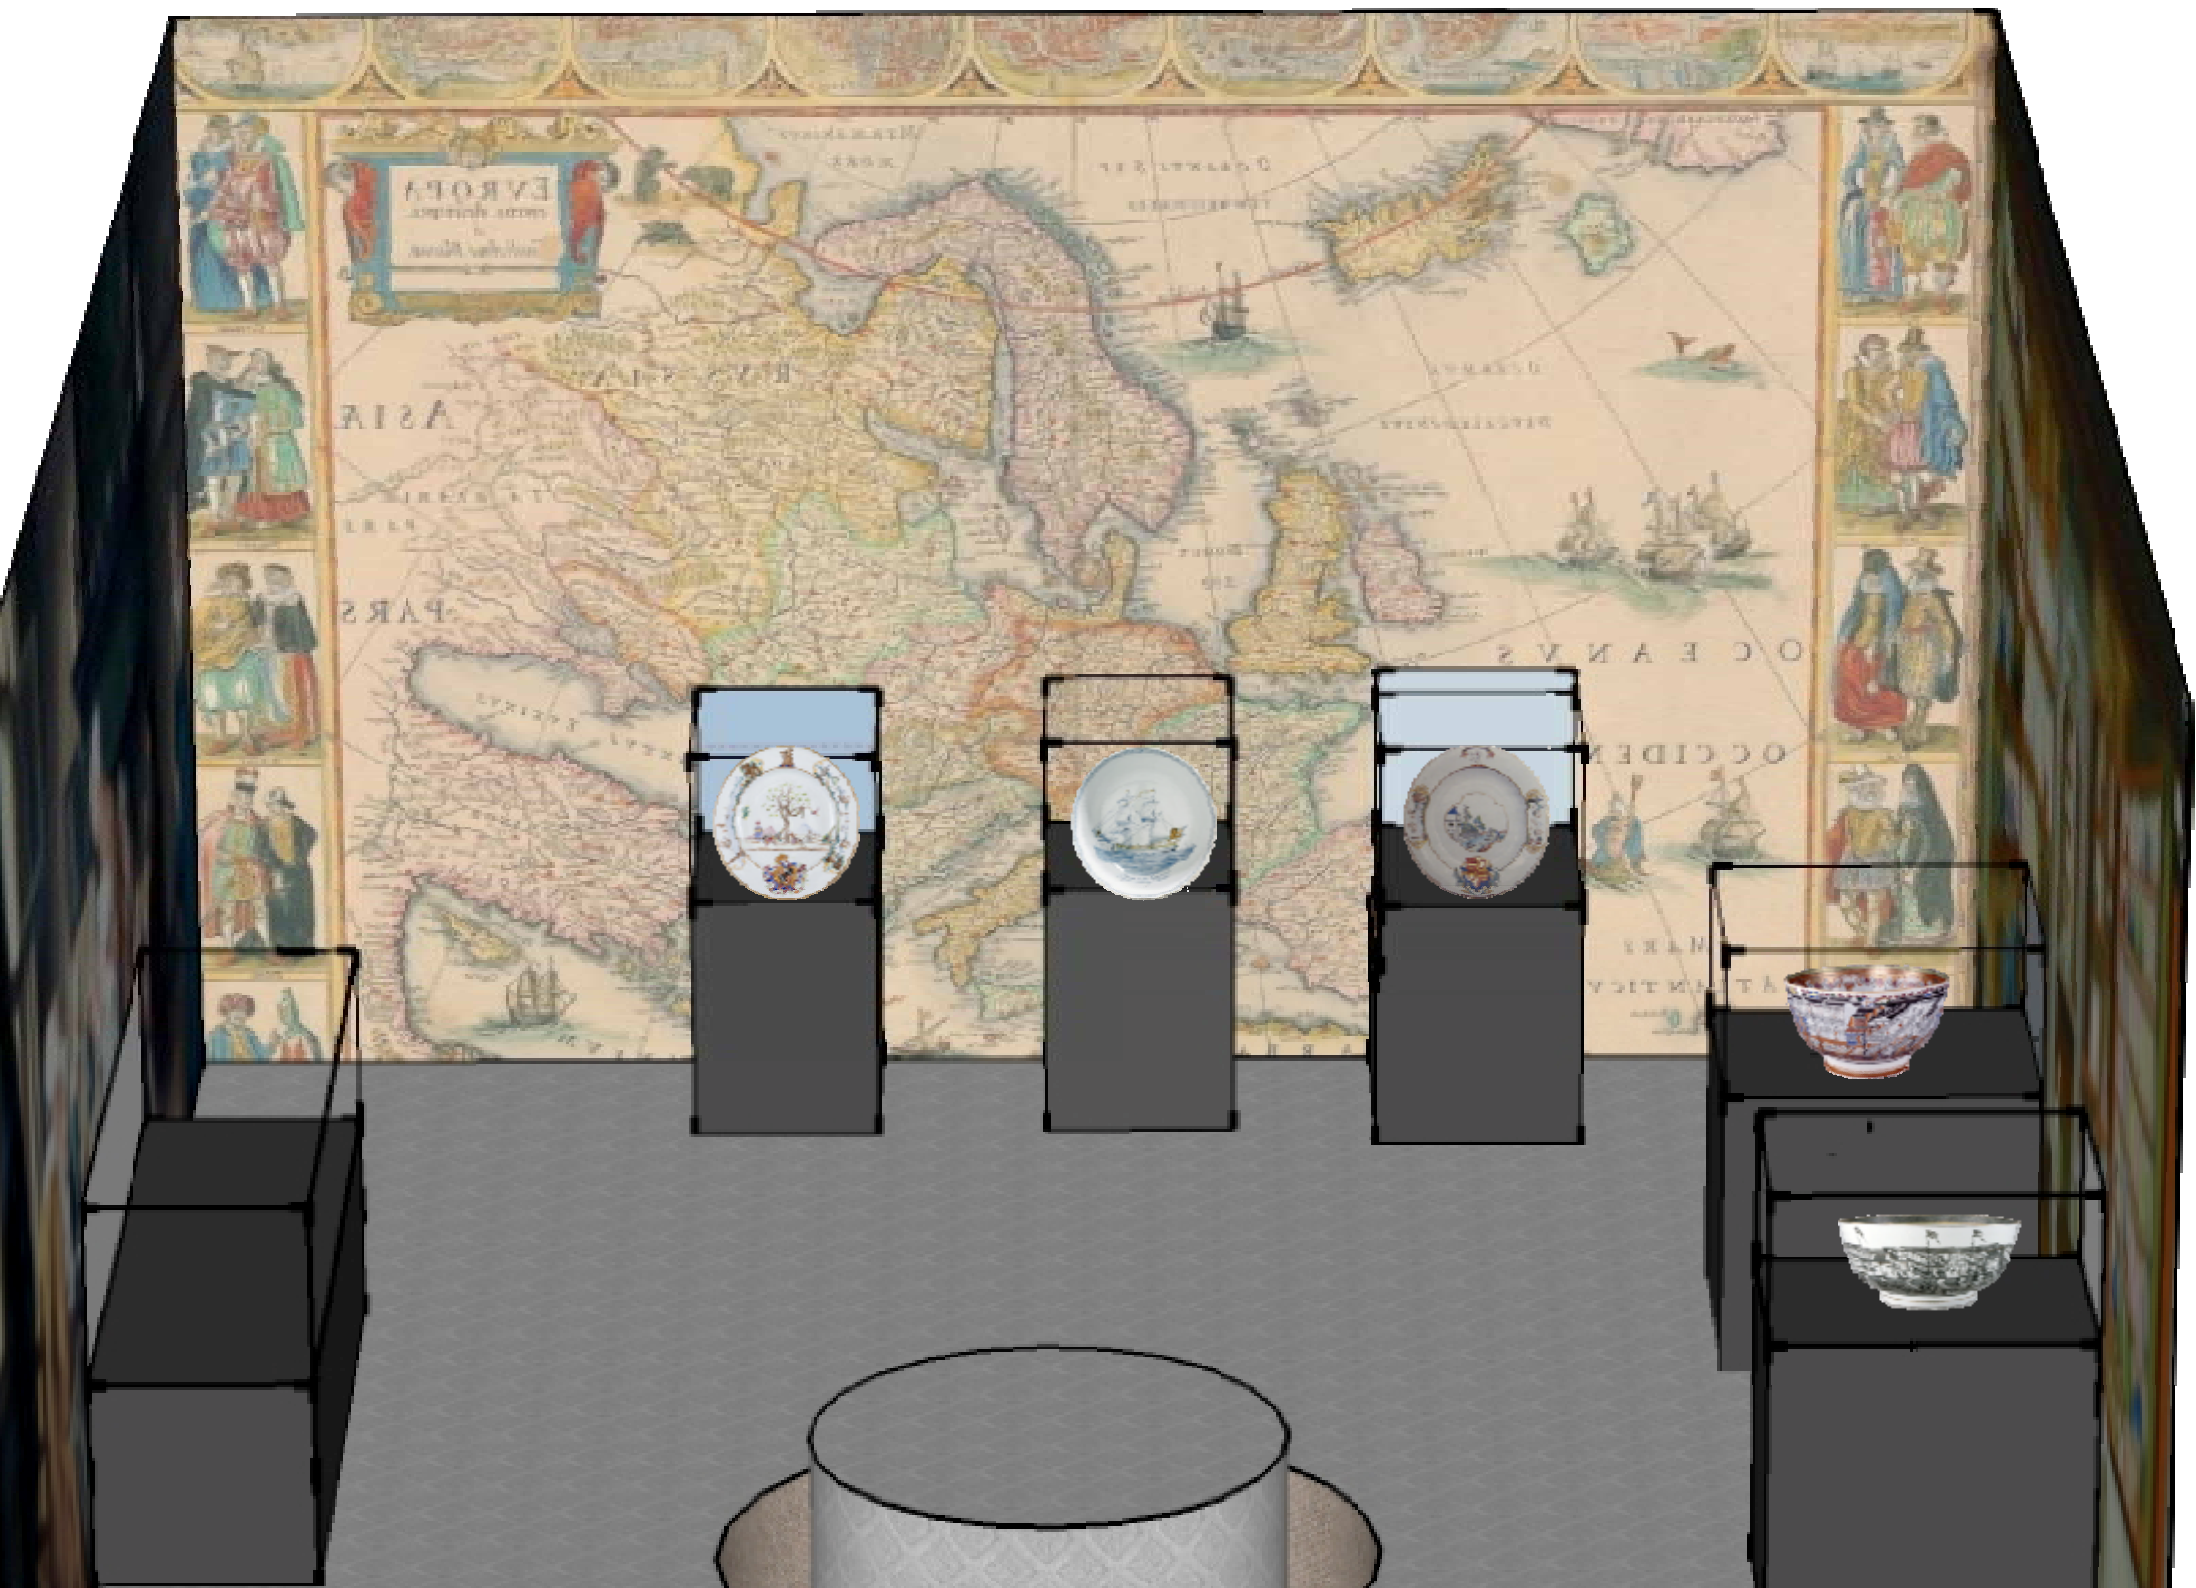

Plate from Admiral Francis Holburne's Chinese dinner service, with the arms of Holburne of Me familille rose enamel The Museum of East A

A ship painted on a bowl in the Longridge Collection is said by Grigsby to be flying an ensign of the type used by the East India Company 1797-1801 (the BM)

● background

art ---porcelain in Europe

cts

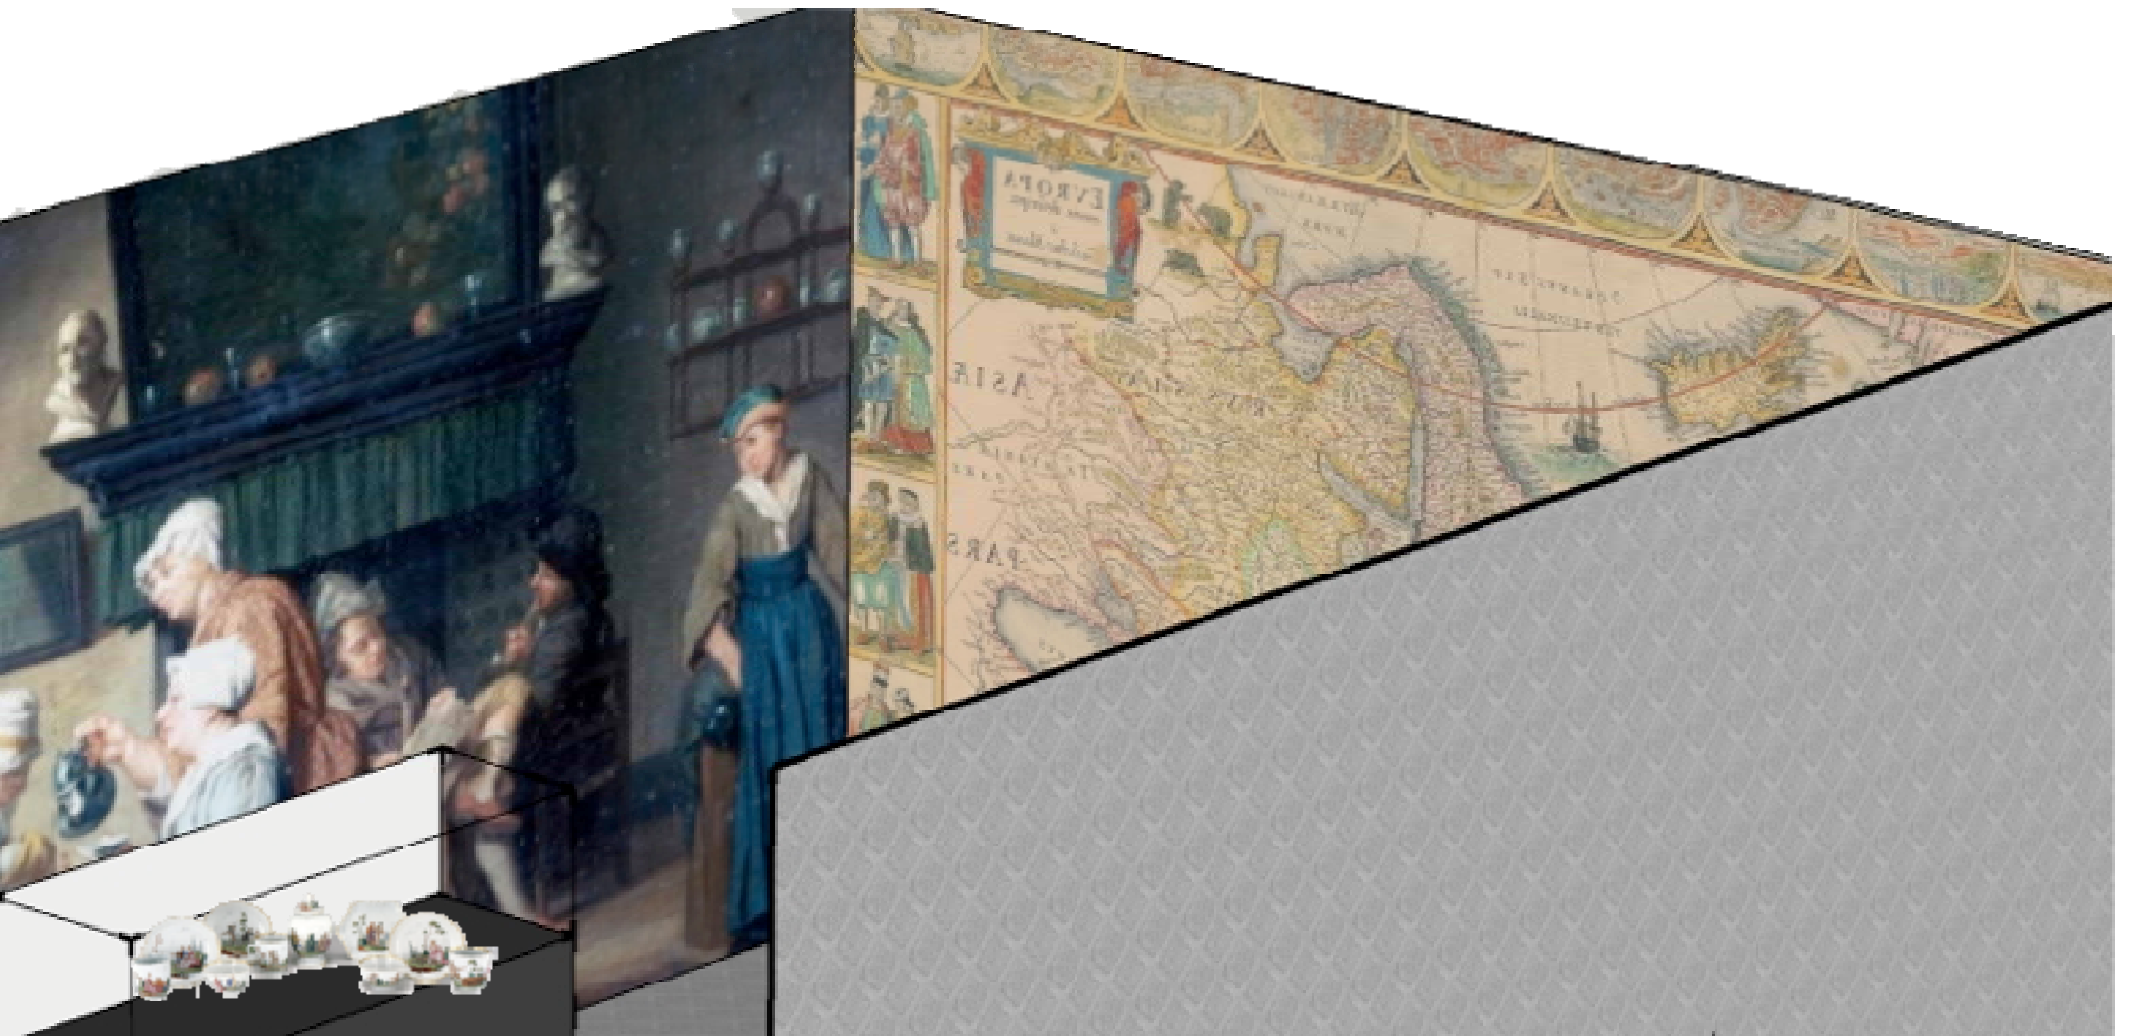

in items from a Chinese porcelain service, painted in England. Franks 654 enes are different on each piece, deriving from theatrical characters of the lian 'commedia dell' arte'. They include Harlequin, in the multi coloured round

ay

Assistant techniques

und---sail on the sea

ch screen---map:show the products
the important cities in the voyage.

ormation books---show the details of re objects about this topic.

Learning

th for adult and children

ivity---design your own porcelain

terial---paper plates and colour

ncils

e it away or leave it ,we will choose

Derivative merchandise

ame

ellery box decorated with world map enet(painting on the objects\coat of

)

....

S

谢谢

他